

I feel truly honoured to be part of Indian Academy of Highway Engineers (IAHE), an apex institute for training of highway professionals.

It is needless to emphasise that the gigantic task of highway construction, operation and maintenance currently being under taken in our country requires a vast pool of well-trained and experienced highway professionals. With the continuous advent of newer materials, construction technologies and machinery in highway construction, maintenance and operations and the focus on green technology, the necessity of proper training and knowledge dissemination has been further accentuated.

IAHE has been playing a pivotal role in this noble mission of providing training to the engineers from different streams and different corners of the country over the last three decades. It has also expanded its horizon to training of expatriates from African, East Asian and SAARC countries as part of Govt. of India initiatives to foster bilateral cooperation.

I look forward to work closely with all stake holders in scaling to more imposing heights so that IAHE immensely contributes to nation building process.

*D. Sarangi
Director, IAHE*